

2022 WIPTA FALL CONFERENCE SCHEDULE (DRAFT)

Blue Harbor Resort • Sheboygan, WI

This is the draft program for the Fall Conference. Times, sessions, presenters, etc. are subject to change. A final program will be made available closer to the conference and at the conference. Thank you!

About the Breakout Session Presenters

Meagan Hardwick

Meagan Hardwick joined the Red Shoes team in 2015 and has more than 15 years of marketing and communication experience serving an array of industries including transportation, government, higher education, financial, healthcare, manufacturing, non-profits and more. In her role, Meagan acts as primary contact for numerous clients providing them with both high-level consulting and leading an internal team that executes clients' integrated marketing and PR needs.

Heather Cleveland

Heather is a certified planner through AICP (American Institute of Certified Planners) and holds a BS in Civil Engineering and a Master of Urban Planning degrees from the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee. Heather has a vast array of experience in environmental consulting and non-profit organizations. Additionally, Heather has travelled the world through her time in the U.S. Army and a tour in Iraq, continued support as a mentor of UW-Milwaukee Engineers Without Borders work in Guatemala, and most recent culinary training at Ballymaloe Cookery School in Ireland. Heather is a compassionate listener and visionary that quickly sees processes and systems and finds inspiration and challenge from different viewpoints and experiences.

Charlotte DiBartolomeo

2022 WIPTA FALL CONFERENCE SCHEDULE (DRAFT)

Charlotte is C.E.O. and co-founder of Red Kite Consulting, Inc. She earned a Master's in Conflict Transformation with a specialty in Intercultural Service, Leadership & Management from the School for International Training Graduate Institute in Vermont. She has studied post war development in Sarajevo, Bosnia. and has served as an NGO delegate to the United Nations at the 2003 Economics Conference for Women. Charlotte has been a trainer and facilitator for twenty-eight years working in corporate, government and academic sectors. She and her team have done conflict coaching with managers, developed and instructed curricula for workforce development and transformational leadership, and facilitated dialogue processes within both the public and private sectors. She has trained in the transportation industry for twelve years, presented at APTA's Sustainability Conference in 2012 and has been published numerous times in Metro Magazine. Charlotte has also trained first responders in both the medical community and the field of social services. She developed and delivered curricula for the Department of State Sponsored Program, American Field Service Cultural Exchange Programs in both New York City and Washington D.C. Charlotte was the Keynote speaker at the Missouri Transit Conference in Columbia, Missouri in 2018. Charlotte DiBartolomeo has conducted seminars on burnout and trauma and its impact on the transit industry for public transit associations across the country including Pennsylvania, California and the Southwest.

In addition to her training, writing and speaking experience, Charlotte was both a crisis interventionist and mediator for senior high school students for eight years working primarily with youth returning from the juvenile justice system, gang members and teens with drug and alcohol addictions. She also developed and instructed a graduate certificate in peace education at Arcadia University training both U.S. and international students and developed and taught a course in Trauma-Informed Care at Drexel University, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.